A Trying Week.

The Face of the Earth—Dear me, when I smile they report an earthquake.—New York Herald.

Explaining One Problem.

Jud Tunkins says some of the modern problems are due to the fact that there are too many chefs and not enough hired girls.

Who Called Her a Patient?

A New York woman horse-whipped her dentist because she did not like the work he did for her. A patient out of patience as it were.

Missouri Wisdom.

When a man's wife asks him a question in a voice that reveals off on a high key he knows that she knows the answer without his replying.—Mexico Ledger.

Typographical Errors!

The bride was gownned in white lace. The bridesmaids' gowns were pink. The whole color scheme of the decorations was pink.—New York paper. Probably the bridegroom was also in the pink of condition.

Village Chat.

"Talk about being holed the times!" snorted Josh, as he unwrapped a 40-cent shirt he had bought at the village store. "This piece of goods is way out of date, and what's more, the new paper it was done up in is two years old and ain't worth readin'."—American Legion.

Ideal Combination.

Most of the girls think they would rather have good husbands than rich ones, but they can't see why good men shouldn't cultivate the money-making habit.

Where Texas Draws the Line.

Personally we claim that women have a right to smoke if they want to, but we would hate to see a housewife making pies with a pipe in her mouth.—Galveston News.

Sakes Alive!

"I'm glad I read Dickens," remarked the crusty lady, "because he has given us so many villainous characters to whom we can compare people we dislike."—Boston Transcript.

However, Most Men Do.

When a girl pins a flower on a man's coat she always tilts her chin up and looks at it sideways—and the man who doesn't take a tumble is too slow to lead a funeral procession.

Early Disillusionment.

When I was eight years old I was very much in love with a neighbor's boy, three years my senior—or imagined I was. One day my dad bought me a pair of shiny new shoes, of which I was very proud. When my going knight came over to see my brother I showed him my new shoes. He looked them over, then said to my brother, "Are they yours? They are big enough for an elephant." Thus ended my first love affair.—Exchange.

Disagree on Derivation.
Some rather far-fetched explanations are being given as to the derivation of the English term "so long!" uttered when parting. The "Dictionary of Passing English of the Victorian Era" says it is a corruption of the Jewish word "selah," used in the Whitechapel district of London as a form of goodbye. Equally curious is the statement that it may be a form of "salam," the eastern salutation of peace.

Moths and Mimicry.

In some large quarries in Argentina it has been observed that a certain species of night-flying moths frequents these places during the day to rest. The moths lie flat against the rocks, which they match perfectly in color, and are practically invisible. This instance is peculiar by reason of the fact that these quarries contain a colored stone which is unknown elsewhere, and the further fact that it is less than a hundred years since the quarries were opened.—Scientific American.

TICK ERADICATION IN SOUTH

Work Has Progressed Satisfactorily in Georgia Where There Has Been Co-Operation.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Tick eradication has progressed so satisfactorily in Georgia that probably fifteen or more counties will soon be released from federal quarantine, according to a report just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. During June, 1914, 565 dippings of cattle were officially supervised in the state, and in the counties expected to be released from quarantine only 300 tick-infested herds were found.

With the exception of one county, Taylor, there has been hearty co-operation in carrying on the tick-eradication work. The commissioners' court of Taylor county declined to co-operate with the state for the enforcement of dipping and quarantine regulations, and has refused to complete the work of tick eradication in herds, on premises and in localities held under local quarantine at the time the federal quarantine was revoked in December, 1920. For this reason it has been necessary to re-quarantine Taylor county.

Tick-Infested Cattle.

There is in effect in Georgia a state regulation which provides that all cattle going through the dipping vat shall be marked with paint at each dipping. This regulation has been of great assistance in facilitating tick-eradication work. Range riders, whose duty it is to pick up any cattle not marked with paint, are employed in each county. Undipped cattle are taken to the dipping vat and dipped at the expense of the owner, or if the owner cannot be found, they are treated as strays and sold for the expenses incurred in their gathering and dipping. To this system, the Department of Agriculture attributes the satisfactory results in ridding the state of ticks. In fact, it is said there are fewer undipped cattle in Georgia, in counties in which tick eradication is being carried on, than in any other state.

The importance of freeing the South of ticks is emphasized by the increase in the number of markets which are being closed to ticky cattle. Following a resolution recently passed by the Maryland state board of agriculture, prohibiting the shipment of ticky cattle into the state for any purpose, the Department of Agriculture has issued a notice to bureau of animal industry inspectors to the effect that shipments of cattle from quarantined areas cannot be received at the Union stock yards, Baltimore, Md.; the J. A. Whitefield Co., Frederick, Md.; the Benning Union stock yards, District of Columbia, and the Carolina Packing Co., Wilmington, N. C.

The horse cannot maintain his normal health and strength unless he secures about the same amount of exercise as he would obtain in traveling from five to six miles a day. To obtain this he should be kept outside as much as possible during the winter months and be housed in a cool, well ventilated barn, properly bedded.

MARKETING SURPLUS GRAINS

Many Farmers Tempted to Use Supply of Feed for the Purpose of Producing Beef.

Cheap feed and relatively low prices for feeders are tempting many to turn surplus roughage and feed into beef. This course offers one of the most attractive ways of marketing certain grains and coarse feeds. It is important that one buys his feeders at a reasonably low figure.

Prevent Loss in Lambs.

You will take a loss of from 25 cents to $1 a head if you do not dock your lambs. Do the work when the lambs are a few days old; and castrate the lambs at the same time.

Grazing for Hogs.

A succession of pasture crops for hogs will be necessary on many farms if hogs are to be raised economically.

Hardly.
Love laughs at locksmiths, but not when a man is jailed for the nonpayment of alimony.

Business First, as It Were.
The world is so full of folks that you have got to dig to excel. There's not much hope for the chap that wants to rest on every other corner. There's too much to do to take the rest cure before you really need it. It's a habit that puts noblemen's where pants ought to be. If you're ever going to get up in the world, you'll have to reach the top by "keeping on going."—Grit.

Worry a Factor in Disease.
It is probably true that more people are crippled or weakened by the fear of disease than by the disease itself. In the opinion of the medical correspondent of the London Times, worry is a grave factor in disease. The answer is, of course, don't fear disease and don't worry. For if one does not fear disease and does not worry, he stands a far better chance of avoiding and overcoming ailments than if he does both these useless and debilitating things.

Pays to Keep on Going.
Life's like a race. To win you must keep on going. The fellow who looks around to see what the grandstand thinks, is going to slow up enough to give him a chance to see others go by. It's the feeling that inspires great words. While the race is on, it's often to the swift it's just as often to the fellow who just keeps on going. He's bound to win who isn't affected by the changes of the weather or regulated by the smiles of friends. You've a work to do, keep going.
